2. Gym Equipment

In order to keep youth active and fit. Gym equipment were distributed in many villages

3. Drip Irrigation

Though Palghar gets maximum rains, water retention does not occur because of fractured rocks. Being dependent only on rains as a water resource, the farmers are unable to cultivate more than one crop (more than once a year). There are five-six rivers flowing in the vicinity; however, all the waters are diverted to the city.

Only one crop does not lead to sufficient income, and the farmers then migrate to nearby areas or to Mumbai city in search of employment. This hampers the education of children, as the children also move away. Our target is to provide water so that they can cultivate more than one crop thus improving earning of the farmers.

We have been proving water using Solar energy from water source so that they can cultivate more than one crop . This also helped children to continue with their studies . We also provide drip irrigation to save water. Scan sponsored some of the Drip Irrigation system
